Explanation

The bill will result in a cost to the Department of Social Services associated with increasing the liquid assets that a community spouse can retain to the maximum amount allowed under federal law ($117,240).

Currently, a community spouse has access to half of the couple's liquid assets as determined by DSS, up to $117,240. For example, if a couple's total counted assets equal $150,000, the community spouse would keep $117,240 under the bill instead of $75,000, reducing the amount available for the institutionalized spouse. It is not known what portion of the institutional spouse's assets are used to cover the cost of their care prior to Medicaid eligibility. However, by reducing the amount available to the institutional spouse, it is likely that they would achieve Medicaid eligibility sooner.

As disposition of a couple's assets prior to Medicaid eligibility is not known, the pace of the accelerated eligibility cannot be known. Based on historical data, there are approximately 150 married Medicaid long-term care enrollees per month (1,800 annually) to which this change may apply. Medicaid nursing home care costs approximately $6,000 per month. Therefore, a month of accelerated eligibility for 150 clients per month would result in an annualized increased Medicaid cost of $10,800,000. The actual costs will depend on the disposition of the couples' assets prior to Medicaid eligibility.

The Out Years

The annualized ongoing fiscal impact identified above would continue into the future subject to inflation.

OLR Bill AnalysisSB 177AN ACT CONCERNING A COMMUNITY SPOUSE'S ALLOWABLE ASSETS.SUMMARY:

This bill requires the Department of Social Services commissioner to amend the Medicaid state plan to require that the spouse of someone in an institution (i.e., nursing home) who remains in the community be allowed to receive the maximum amount of assets allowed by federal law (i.e., the maximum community spouse protected amount (CSPA), $117,240 in 2014). Currently, the spouse can keep the greater of (1) the federal minimum CSPA ($23,448 in 2014), or (2) half of the couple's combined assets, up to the federal maximum.

The commissioner must adopt regulations to implement this change.

EFFECTIVE DATE: From passage

BACKGROUNDCommunity Spouse Protected Amount

Federal Medicaid law allows the spouse of someone living in a long-term care institution to keep some of the couple's assets to ensure the spouse living in the community does not become impoverished. The amount retained by the non-institutionalized spouse is referred to as the CSPA. The maximum and minimum CSPAs are set by federal law and the state must update them yearly.
